TOLAN RACES TO VICTORY IN OLYMPICS Citizens To Fight New Lynch Law

TOLAN REGAINS SPRINT TITLES FOR U.S.A. IN OLYMPIC MEET

Establishes New Records In 100, 200 Meter Sprints;
Metcalf-Gordon Win

OLYMPIC STADIUM, LOS ANGELES, Cal., August 4.—Upon the head of Eddie Tolan, former Michigan university sprint star, now rests the crown of the world's sprint king and double Olympic champion.

Tolan climaxed his brilliant Monday's performance in the 100-meter final which he won in record time of 10.2, by leading the cream of the world's sprinters in the 200-meter classic establishing new records in each event.

Pushed In Century

In Monday's 100-meter final, judges disagreed on the winner, some believing Ralph Metcalf, Marquette university star, had been first to the tape. Tolan himself, believing Metcalf had won, ran over to congratulate his colored rival. Pictures of the finish revealed that Tolan had won by inches with Jonath (Germany) and Simpson (white, U. S. A.) finishing third and fourth.

Metcalf Favorite

Due to Metcalf's strong finish in the 100-meters many believed the taller colored boy would reverse the order over Tolan in the 200 meters Wednesday.

All Qualify In 200-Meters

Simpson, Ohio State, the white member of the U. S. A. sprint team, Metcalf and Tolan, each romped through the trials in the 200-meters for the finals.

Off To Good Start

The fastest array of sprint stars ever assembled for the starter's gun in the 200-meter classic with Metcalf and Tolan reigning favorites.

With the bark of the gun, two steel black legs swung into action carrying spike studded shoes of Eddie Tolan out in front and his breast was first to touch the finish line, going away from the field.

Metcalf, who started poorly, was coming up well but could not overtake the flying Simpson who finished second to Tolan to make it one, two, three for America. Jonath of Germany was fourth; Luti, Argentine, fifth and Bill Waters, South Africa, sixth.

Gordon Wins Broad Jump

Edward Gordon, former Iowa athlete, and product of Gary (Ind.) high schools, won the broad jump title with a leap of 25 feet 3 1/2 inches. This fell considerably short of the former and present world record holders, Sylvio Cator of Haiti, and Chunei Nambu, of Japan, to fulfill expectations.

Cator failed to qualify among the first six finalists and Nambu finished third with a jump of 24 feet 5 3/4 inches. Cator and Nambu both had cleared 26 feet in competition, alone among the world's broad jumpers, and the Japanese holds the official record of 26 feet 1 1/2 inches.

Gordon's performance brought total of U. S. colored athletes to three firsts, a second and third.

Two colored girls, Miss Wilfrid Pickett of Chicago and Miss Louise Stokes of Malden, Mass., lay claim to two places of the total of fifteen on the American Women's Olympic team.

Tidy and Louise won places on the team when they ran the 100-meter dash against seven white girls at Dyche stadium, Evanston, Ill., July 16. Louise tied for third while Tidy captured fourth. Miss Mary Carew of Medford, Mass., white, who tied Miss Stokes for third, will be the third relay runner with Miss Pickett and Miss Stokes.

Stays For Trials

Stays in a University of Chicago Junior, Louise is 18 years old and a high school senior at Malden.

Tidy's and Louise's hardest fight will be against eight other teams of girls in the 400-meter relays.

He Fetes With Beer Judge Approves

Chicago, Ill., 5.—

It's entirely proper to have beer in your ice box when your daughter gets married—and for at least one week thereafter. Judge James F. Fardy so ruled in the Wabash av. court last week.

William Eden, 59, was brought in by police, who found beer in his refrigerator at 1513 E. Sixty-fourth St.

"Just celebrating, your honor," explained Eden. "My daughter was married last week."

"Quite right," said the judge. "Case dismissed."

LAWYERS FLOCK TO CITY FOR ANNUAL CONFAB

Lively Three-Day Program Entertainment To Keep Legal Minds Busy

With a large number of distinguished delegates in attendance, the eighth annual convention of the National Bar association opened at the Walker casino Thursday with a program replete with significant features.

Given Glad Welcome

Items of the first day program included addresses by Jesse S. Heslip, of Toledo, O., president of the association; appointment of committees and reports of treasurer, secretary and regional directors; addresses on behalf of the city and state of Indiana by the Hon. Reginald H. Sullivan, mayor of Indianapolis and the Hon. James M. O'Leary, attorney-general and respondent by Attorney Euclid L. Taylor, Chicago, vice-president; Attorney Paul G. Davis, white, president Indianapolis Bar association; Attorney Earl B. Dickerson of Chicago, Attorney Herbert W. Littlejohn, president Marion County Lawyers' Club; Alva L. Bates, president Cook County Bar association; Attorney R. L. Bailey, assistant attorney general; Attorney E. Washington Rhodes, Philadelphia vice-president, National Bar association, and the Rev. H. L. Herod, Indianapolis, appointee.

Guests At Luncheon

Thursday night, a mass meeting delegates were guests at a luncheon given in their honor by the Marion County Lawyers' Club.

Thursday night, a mass meeting was held at the Bethel A. M. E. church with attorney Jesse S. Heslip, president of the organization, as the principal speaker. Attorney R. L. Bailey, assistant attorney general of the state of Indiana, introduced the speaker.

Hoover Dam Subject

A quartette from the Cosmopolitan School of Music appeared on the program.

Among the more important questions scheduled to be discussed by the legal men is the "Governmental Policy Regarding Employment of the Hoover Dam," by Attorney Thomas Campbell of Denver, National Bar association regional director.

A reception and dance will be given in honor of visiting lawyers Friday night at the Walker casino.

Saturday afternoon the delegates will be entertained at a picnic and barbecue to be in their honor by the Wayne County Bar.

Most of the athletes who failed to place on the American team in sprints, Nate George, sprints; the Palo Alto trials remained here for the games. They are Jas. John Brooks, broad jump; Booker Brooks, discus; Clinton Taylor, 10,000 meters; Eugene Beatty, 400-meters; Geo. Williams, javelin; Albert King, high jump; John Lewis, 400-meters; Bobby Robinson, pole vault; Ashley Burch, sprints; Leroy Dues, shot put and Brown, 200-meters.

PYTHIAN STATE MEETING WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Retrenchment Policies Porter-Reed Cheered By Delegate Throng

(By Special Staff Correspondent)

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 5.—

The State Grand Lodge session of the Knights of Pythias was held here last week with large delegations from every corner of the commonwealth in attendance.

With a strict policy of retrenchment as the guiding motto of the session the convention got down to business with a snap and dispatch hitherto unknown to rank and file of the organization. Due to the prevailing business depression and the hardships imposed therefrom on the general public the state meeting lacked much of its customary pomp and display features of the uniform department which was not in evidence this year. Nevertheless, Terre Haute gave the fraternal visitors one of the biggest and grandest receptions ever extended to the Pythians by citizens of the city of Wabash.

Porter's Policy Praised

It was revealed during the sessions that under the leadership of State Grand Chancellor, William Porter of Indianapolis, the order is progressing as never before. His retrenchment policy referred to many times in connection with convention talks as the logical method in these stringent times was likened unto a veritable salvation for the organization.

Of particular significance to the welfare of the order is the unusual circumstance that its present grand chancellor is serving without a salary which he has steadfastly refused to accept.

As a result of this bit of outstanding and big-hearted patriotism and selflessness on the part of Grand Chancellor, Porter, the order finds itself in a position to boast of the assurance that all will be perfectly well with its affairs, after the dark clouds of the depression shall have rolled over.

Boards Abolished

Other progressive steps taken by Mr. Porter at the session included the abolishment of one or two boards, an accomplishment which enlisted the approval of every Pythian delegate with the interest of the order at heart.

Evidence of the satisfaction with which Pythian delegates received reports of last year's accomplishments was revealed in the fact that all of the delegates were re-elected by acclamation. The same sweeping changes for advancing the interest of the Courts of Calanthe were effected with a like degree of dispatch and thoroughness by Mrs. Julia Reed, veteran and beloved most grand worthy counselor of the Pythian auxiliary. As in the big brother branch of the organization all officers were re-elected.

Observers are of the opinion that the K. of P. Calanthe sessions were the most successful ever held in this city.

The meeting was characterized by an unusually large delegations of Calanthe court members from points in a healthy state.

Everywhere, throughout the three-day sessions and the lively program arranged for the delegates it was evident that the financial and other affairs of the popular organizations are in a healthy state.

That is the big satisfaction with which Pythians left this city at the close of the convention last week.

Not Poor Enough

For County Relief

Poor relief to Lynch C. Simms, 57 years old, was discontinued after investigation disclosed that Simms had a telephone and was paying $25 a month house rent and not because Simms boasted of being a Republican, it was revealed Wednesday in a hearing before the county commissioners.

Simms had charged Mrs. Hannah Noone, township trustee and Fred Elsemt, Democratic precinct committeeman with conspiring to prevent Simms and the latter's family from obtaining relief because Simms told an investigator that he was a Republican.

MURDERERS AND THEVES KEEP POLICE BUSY

Week-End Reports Reveal Many Fights; Other Crimes

Mrs. Lillian Wilson, 517 West

North street, reports the theft of $9.40 from her room Friday night of last week.

Ralph Weddle, white, 22 years old, of Jasonville, Ind. was allegedly lured early Sunday evening to 415 Toledo street by Joe Brooks, 19, of that address, where Gillette razor was taken from the white man after Charlotte England had gone through his pockets.

Police recovered the razor which they returned to Weddle. The Brooks woman was arrested and charged with petit larceny and disorderly conduct. The Brooks boy is said to be a P. I. for the Brooks woman.

Charles Owsley, 28 years old, 401

West Walnut street, was found by police early Sunday evening suffering from a serious case of internal hemorrhage. Owsley was sent to the City Hospital in an ambulance.

Preston Forrest, 46 years old, 533 1/2 West Pratt street was struck on the top of the head with an ax Sunday afternoon by one William Elliott, address unknown. Forrest, who was not injured seriously by the ax blow was to obtain a warrant for his assailant's arrest Monday. The ax wielder as described as 25 years old, 6 feet tall, about 175 pounds, and of a dark brown skin.

Herbert Hamshire, 19 years old, 450 N. Senate avenue was arrested Sunday night on a vagrancy charge after he was seen at New York and Senate avenue trying to break through a Plymouth Sedan license owned by Clarence Hurst, white, of Lebanon, Ind.

Police arrested Charles Smith, 27 years old, a cab driver, living at 657 Blake street, Clara Campbell, 28 years old, 1335 N. Senate avenue and George Howard, 29 years old 1316 Brooker street in connection with a holdup, staged recently in the Davenport restaurant, 1330 N. Senate avenue in which Robert Mack, 1225 West 15th street, was robbed of $65.

Two men are said to have drawn knives on Mack as he counted the money in the Senate avenue eating house, grabbed the cash and escaped in a cab.

Laverne Dickerson, 28 years old, 1330 1/2 N. Senate avenue, for whom police is looking is said to be one of the men that robbed Mack of the money.

Smith, in whose possession a long blade knife was found at the time of his arrest, was charged with vagrancy and carrying concealed weapon.

The Campbell woman and Howard were charged with vagrancy.

After he is alleged to have taken a shot at Roger Child, 38 years old, 1115 Massachusetts avenue, George Gilliam, 39 years old, was arrested early Sunday afternoon for assault and battery with intent to kill, and shooting inside the city limits.

Child was arrested for vagrancy in connection with the shooting which occurred at 1202 Vandies street. The arrests were made by Patrolmen Walker and Simmons.

Shot fatally through the stomach, Herbert Pennick, 35 years old, rear 870 Coe street was rushed to the City Hospital in a dying condition Friday of last week.

Luke Robinson, 37 years old, 923 Darnell street was arrested and charged with murder after Pennick had made a death bed statement to the effect that Robinson had shot him.

A nickle plated revolver allegedly used by Robinson in the shooting was found under the rear step of the Darnell street home by Lieut. Trautman after its location was pointed out to the officer by Robinson's wife.

Odd Fellows Hear Progressive Report

The forty-ninth general meeting of lodges of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows, Household of Pallas and Patriarches, closed here Wednesday night, after one of the most successful sessions in the history of the organization.

The program, principal feature of which included the annual address by Nathan Hill, D. G. M. of district 22, Indiana, in which the Odd Fellows were elated to hear of the sound, all-round condition of all departments and future plans for the order outlined.

The reception given Monday night at the hall on Indiana avenue in honor of delegates, was largely attended.

Mrs. Georgia Porter, Bloomington, district grand most noble governor and District Grand Master Hill, were in charge of the sessions, with H. J. Dangerfield as chairman.

POLICE OFFICER STARKS HERO IN GUN BATTLE

Amid Fusillade Of Bullets

Negro gallantry, valor and loyalty was manifest with characteristic efficiency Tuesday morning amid sizzling bullets that sent citizens scurrying for cover in all directions while glass in windows and doors crashed against floors and sidewalks during a fusillade of revolver shots exchanged between Jack Werner, proprietor of a store at 234 Indiana avenue and two youthful white bandits, Roy Love, 19 years old, 224 North Noble street and Stanley Parker, 20 years old, 924 West New York street.

Holdup Is Foiled

Trouble started after the bandits had attempted to stage a holdup at the Werner store, police said.

Fred Starks, traffic police officer, appeared on the scene just as Werner, mortally wounded by a shot through the abdomen, was emptying his revolver at the fleeing robbers.

Falls Unconscious

As one of the bandits was grabbed and disarmed by Starks, Werner was seen to fall unconscious to the sidewalk.

Two of Werner's bullets found their marks on Love, the bandit nabbed by Starks, while Love was engaged in a running revolver fight with the pawn broker. The bandit is now lying on a City hospital cot in a serious condition.

The bandit's companion, Stanley shooting, was later captured and Parker, who escaped in the large crowd attracted to the scene of the locked up.

Starks, with drawn automatic, ordered the robber to "drop that gun" as the bandit rushed down the street loosening bullets at Werner. Bandit and pawn broker are still at the City Hospital where efforts are being made to save their lives.

Gets Chance to Pay His Fine

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—

Judge J. Chew Sheriff, police magistrate for Prince Georges County, Maryland, always gives a man a chance, and he gave Calvin Scott a chance to pay his third fine. Scott was being tried for driving while drunk and driving recklessly.

"Have You Ever Been Arrested Before?"

The answer:

"Yes, sir; twice, and I always pay my fines."

Said the judge:

"All right. Here's your chance to pay your third fine. One hundred and three dollars."

When last seen, Scott was sitting in prisoners dock, awaiting commitment to the Marlboro jail.

DRAKE MEASURE PASSES UPPER, LOWER HOUSES

Anti-Lynch Law Amendment Now In Hands Of Committee

By STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The Drake amendment to the state's anti-lynching bill was passed by the lower and upper houses of the legislature and is now in the hands of a house committee.

To those citizens, who do not know what the Drake amendment is, be it known that the bill has just one object, and that is to take all the teeth out of the state's anti-lynch law, and render the measure absolutely useless.

Students of the Drake amendment are led in their condemnation of the cut-and-dried rapidly with the measure, with all its barbarous potentialities received the stamp of approval in both houses of the state legislature.

Lynch State Category

They say the state anti-lynch law according to the Drake version, places Indiana squarely in the category of an out-right lynch state.

"This," said a leading member of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, "is revealed plainly in the Drake amendment which makes the counties liable only when murdered victims of the lynchings are taken from the sheriff."

The objectionable amendment, citizens say, is moved exactly after the South Carolina law. With the final inauguration of the Drake amendment will come the repeal of that section of the anti-lynch law which makes the county liable for damage to persons or property precipitated through mob violence and lynching.

Galloway To Fight

Representative Galloway, Indianapolis Democrat, has expressed himself to the effect that he is definitely opposed to the Drake amendment against which he plans to wage a bitter fight.

Commenting on the Drake amendment, G. N. T. Gray, said, among other things, "It goes to show the necessity of keeping some one constant in touch with legislation affecting the Negro."

There is one dismal fact attached to the whole situation.

The Drake bill will have the effect of delivering Indiana back into the hands of ruffians and mob rule.

Baby Nestles In Arms Of Mother

A cuddling baby, who brought shame to her mother at birth was returned to that mother who once had refused her, by Russell Newgent, Juvenile court referee.

Miss Theta Harris, 16-year-old high school student of St. Louis, gave the infant at birth to Mrs. Louise Jones, now dead, to conceal the fact that she was parents of the child.

On her death bed, Mrs. Jones gave the child to her sister, Mrs. Mamie Jarrett, 619 Fayette street, who objected when the real mother came to claim the child.

Miss Harris, proved her parentage with a physician's certificate and satisfied the referee of her ability to care for the child.

Games, Free Eats

The picnic with its number of games of all kinds, football, indoor base ball, running races, sack races and walking races and free eats and refreshments of all kinds, is going to be bigger and better than ever, according to Mr. Bailey, who said that a prize will be given winning participants in each game.

Say, boys and girls, you can't just afford to miss the big treat.

And look what is going to happen in addition to all the things already mentioned. All new newswires joining the Recorder carriers force between now and the time of the big program will be eligible to receive tickets to the picnic. We know you would like to attend this big picnic; call Lincoln 7222 now.

Baptists Plan Big
Jubilee Session

Seventy-fifth annual session and diamond jubilee of the Indiana Baptists will be celebrated beginning Monday, August 8 and continued until Monday, August 15, at Mount Paran Baptist church, Missouri and Twelfth streets of which the Rev. C. H. Bell is pastor.

An outstanding feature on the program will be in the form of a banquet to be given next Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

A large number of city pastors and choir leaders are scheduled to participate on the big Baptist program.

NEW CARRIERS POLICE DRIVE ELIGIBLE FOR RECORDER PICNIC

(By STAFF CORRESPONDENT)

Extensive preparations are being made in shape for the big Indianapolis Recorder picnic to be held the latter part of the month.

Upwards of two hundred news boys and girls together with their parents and friends are expected to attend the picnic which is already creating quite a deal of talk in every section of the city.

Paper Sales Increase

A large number of girls and boys are responding enthusiastically to a recent announcement over the signature of Circulation, Edward Bailey, to the effect that the kiddies show some appreciation of their coming program by increasing their sales. They are selling more papers weekly.

By the way, girls and boys of school age who are desirous of making money as Recorder carriers should get in touch now with Mr. Bailey. All that is necessary is to call Lincoln 7222, ask for the Circulation manager and get in on one of the business propositions for boys and girls you have ever heard of.

A surprisingly large number of boys and girls and even grown-ups are now serving as many profitable and regular Indianapolis Recorder routes why can't you do the same thing, practice the art of transacting business and build big routes for your selves in your spare time, boys and girls.

CITIZENS ROUNDED UP BY SOLDIERS Place Aboard Truck

A pitiful bunch of apparently half-starved and disappointed bonus seekers, colored and white, bound for their homes in the South and West arrived in Indianapolis Monday.

In the contingent was one John Stewart, who in spite of disclaiming any connection with the bonus marchers, was allegedly rounded up by Washington police and soldiers, placed aboard a truck and forced to join the group and transported to the city.

To an Indianapolis Recorder, Stewart said, "I had worked in Washington for 30 years. I was there too when Roosevelt served his first term."

The aged man said he was on his way to work last week when all of a sudden some soldiers "herded me in a park with some other fellows, put me on a truck and took me out of town."

Stewart said authorities along the route from the Capitol City "refused allow me to leave the bonus marchers," adding, jokingly that "I guess they are going to drive me into the ocean."

Another member of the contingent gave his name as Frank Wheeler, who like Stewart claimed no connection with the bonus marchers cause. Wheeler said he had not been employed regularly for a long time in Washington which he said is his home.

In the meantime the bonus marchers were taken to police headquarters and their guarded until arrival of the national guard trucks to take them to the Illinois line.

ning Monday, August 8 and continued until Monday, August 15, at Mount Paran Baptist church, Missouri and Twelfth streets of which the Rev. C. H. Bell is pastor.

FASTEST HUMAN

Tolan's records of 10.2 in the 100 meter final and 21.2 in the 200-meter event at Los Angeles, have won for him the title of the world's fastest human. He not only regained sprint laurels for the U. S. A. Olympic competition but established new records in each event.

Cubans Winning

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Aug. 3.—Late reports indicate the Cubans continued their winning streak in the past few days by defeating Council Bluffs, Ia. 11 to 2; Donaldson's Colored Stars at Sioux Falls, S. D. 7 to 1; Mitchell, S. D. 7 to 2; and the Sioux City Stock Yards at Sioux City, Ia., in an 11-inning night game, 6 to 4, with Lefty Tiant pitching. This gives them 40 victories out of last 44 games played since June 19th.

Tuskegee Coach Attends Olympics

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Aug.—(ANP) Cleve Abbott, famed Tuskegee coach, is enroute to the Olympic Games, to be held in Los Angeles. He will return in time to take Nathaniel and Franklin Jackson, national doubles champions, to the National Tennis Tournament to be held at Shady Rest golf club, N. J., beginning August 15.

KID SLAUGHTER PAUL PIRRONE IN WINDUP OF "KEED" BATTLE

Chocolate Will Defend His Junior Lightweight World's Title

CHICAGO, August 3.—(Special) Sammy Kid Slaughter, sensational Terre Haute (Ind.) middleweight and champion of his state, will battle Paul Pirrone over the eight-round bout at the stadium here Thursday night. Pirrone is from Cleveland. The bout is a semi-windup to the Kid Chocolate Eddie Shea junior lightweight championship fight over the ten-round route.

Shea's home is in Chicago. Chocolate arrived Saturday and has been showing his wares to local fans in daily workouts.

Chocolate has boxed in Chicago before, but that way back in 1929, when he tackled Steve Smith, his fight Thursday marks his first start here against an opponent of worth.

Two newcomers will appear in the supporting bouts. Angel Clivelle meets Willie Oster, and Freddie Miller, the Cincinnati featherweight, fights Hymie Wiseman of Des Moines.

Clivelle and Miller are expected to be in training here by Monday afternoon.

The fourth supporting bouts are six, rounded between Jack Moran, Chicago middleweight, and Marty Sampson of New York.

O'DELPHIANS 9 ENRIGHTS 8, IN SOCIAL LEAGUE

The lowly El Amigo "Colts" will meet the league leading Entre Nous next Sunday at Douglas Park.

Last Sunday Odelphians took a close one from Enright, 9 to 8. Although Franklin, Enright ace pitcher, struck out eleven and only gave eight hits, the game got away for him, because of errors and passed ball. Clark's home run with the base loaded was responsible for the Odelphians rally in the fourth.

The score.

CITY TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Because of inclement weather, the tenth annual tennis tournament will swing in to action at noon Tuesday. Many upsets are in prospect, and many fast matches are promised such as Hinkle, Jefferson, Grant, Johnson, Banks, Zeigler, Hummons, Marbury, Takashi, Hummons, P. Johnson and Freeman.

Grant has the advantage should he come through hard competition to defeat Zeigler or Banks in the semi-final round. Banks is the dark horse because of his consistency and should beat Zeigler in the quarter final round. Cable will meet his test in the winner of the Johnson-Freeman match. Hummons is by far the most out standing in the lower bracket and should go to the finals.

Junior Division

Hillard Freeman and Dalton Randolph are the favorites to reach the championship round, with the advantage of consistency to Randolph. There are two dark horses in the Juniors—Ray Coston and Roland Hayes.

Women's Singles

Little Miss Mabel Alston is a wonder. She began to play tennis a month ago and has shown 100 per cent improvement and is find. She is amazing in her performance and by next summer should develop into a real tennis player. In her first match she opposes Miss Alma Porter. Freedomia Bundy will meet Minnie Talbot in the second round in a thriller. Leslye Henderson will be tested against Mattie Gwyn who went to the finals in the Indiana State College tournament last spring in Terre Haute. Cleo Clark and Carrie Barnes are dark horses in the women's division.

The finals will be played on Saturday evening. There will also be entertainment in the Walker casino Saturday night where the winners will be presented to the public. The public is invited to attend.

PHAGAN WINS A. A. U. BERTH FOR OLYMPICS

45,000 Frenzied Fans Cheer Chicago Boy in Win over German Youth

CHICAGO, Aug., July.—(ANP)—Black America made a solid impression on Germany Wednesday night during the postponed international Golden Gloves contests between teams representing Germany and Chicagoland when Johnny Phagan, welterweight Golden Glove champion entered the ring before 45,000 spectators and knocked out the German policeman-champion, Eric Campe in one minute thirty-two seconds of fighting.

Fourteen amateur bouts constituted the program offered by the Chicago Tribune for anywhere from fifty cents to three dollars in Soldier field. The thousands who gathered into the huge saucer to witness the contests were worked up to a high pitch of enthusiasm by the ceremonies preceding the fights, the playing of national airs, the unfurling and spotlighting of national anthems and the parade of the fighters.

Of the twenty-eight battles on the night's program only one was a sun-kissed American, Johnny Phagan, born in Georgia, reared in Illinois. Phagan's battle was the fifth of the international contests and when he emerged from the dressing room to make his way through the yelling mob, the German boys had taken three contests to one for the United States. As soon as Henry Rothler, American lightweight, had disposed of his German opponent, winning a three-round decision, the patrons looked at their programs and noted the name of Phagan. Whispers and comments filled the night air until the black form of Phagan showed.

The crowd of 45,000, in obedience to an irresistible impulse, overcame prejudice, arose as one with a mingled buzz of awe and cheered the black batter and continued to cheer until he had made the seventy-five yards to the ring. In the arena his dark brown body glistened beautifully and his muscles were bronze classics.

The first round, opened with the German leading with a challenging right hand. Phagan bucked his shoulders and prepared for an attack after holding the policeman off. Straight as an arrow his long black arm shot out and down, his striking Campe just below the ear. They clinched and broke. The German shook his head and assumed a defensive posture. Again Phagan shot forward and clipped the German's jaw. Campe straightened, but the ropes and shook his head. Phagan's right hand quickly sped to Campe's unprotected jaw, just twelve inches, and the German was catapulted twelve feet out of the ring, over the ropes and the reporters into the laps of the judges.

At the end of ten seconds, Campe was still inert. At fifteen he started turning purple and at twenty, he was directing traffic on the Willhemstrasse.

The referee lifted the black warrior's hand in token of victory and the crowd arose again to cheer Chicago's second victor as Phagan nimbly leaped from the ring to return, the praise of the dressing room, the proud possessor of a diamond-studded belt given to the winners.

Wednesday's battle, postponed from Tuesday because of rain, was the last amateur fight for Phagan. Married and the father of two children, he will now enter the professional ranks and try to get some shoes for the babies.

The Americans and Germans broke even in the contests, each country winning four of the eight battles. The German flyweight, bantamweight, featherweight and heavyweight won while the American victories were in the lightweight, welterweight, middleweight and light heavyweight classes.

LYLES OF MILLER AND LYLES CO. DIES IN N. Y.

NEW YORK CITY.—(CNS)—Aubrey Lee Lyles, diminutive comedian of the internationally famous vaudeville team "Miller and Lyles," died Thursday night in Dr. Wiley M. Wilson's Sanatorium at 200 West 138th street. Lyles had been ill for two months of a bronchial infection and gastric ulcers.

Lyles was 49 years old and was born in Jackson, Tennessee. He attended Fisk University at Nashville where he became interested in amateur theatricals and teamed with Flournoy Miller, a fellow student. From campus theatricals this partnership continued through years of small time vaudeville circuits to stardom in "Shuffle Along" in 1921.

Following the success of their production "Shuffle Along" Miller and Lyles produced and starred in "Running Wild," "Rang-Tang," and the less successful "Sugar Hill" of last season. They were featured in "George White's Scandals," the late Polrenz Ziegfeld's "Midnight Frolic" and a "Charlot's Revue," the latter appearance taking them to Europe.

Today Lyles' fretful complaining voice is well known to theatre-goers of both races through the country and in the larger cities of the continent. In their "stifflents" and "trick arithmetic" acts, they have played practically all of the larger vaudeville houses in America.

Lyles was married and had two children. His home was at 149 West 118th street.

Big League Magnate Believes Negro Baseball Has Future

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—(By Trezzvant W. Anderson for ANP)—In an exclusive interview with the Associated Negro Press last Monday night, Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators, local entry in the American League baseball race, declared that he believed that high class baseball for Negroes would pay, and that it should flourish, if properly organized and supported by hometown fans where the teams were located.

Mr. Griffith went on record as being in favor of night baseball for race teams, although stolidly maintaining that he would never put his Senators on such a basis, for obvious reasons. He stated that it would pay, because Negroes have more time off, especially on Saturday and Sunday nights, and therefore could turn out in larger numbers for games on such nights, than they could in regular afternoon games.

He asserted that Negroes deserved high class baseball, for he has recognized the fact that Negroes are just as discriminating as whites in their desire for the best, and he said that he was sure that they could get the best, for just then he was watching two of the best teams in colored big league baseball play a night game in Griffith stadium, the home of his Senators. They were the Washington Pilots and Gus Greenlee's Pittsburgh Crawfords. As he saw Dixon, left gardner of the Crawfords smash out a far-away homer in deep center, he smiled and said: "how that boy can sock 'em". Then as Mule Suttles, first sacker of the Pilots came to bat later, and rode one far out to the wall in right center, only to have an elert center-fielder gather it in, after playing deep for the "Mule", he remarked: "that is worth anybody's money."

It is his belief that those behind Negro big league baseball should do everything possible to give their fans the very best they can get, and praised John Dykes, owner of the Pilots, as being a "clean-cut fellow", that he was a fine owner, and was sure that he was going to bring colored baseball to a high plane in Washington.

But, said Mr. Griffith, it is almost impossible to have success with league baseball, unless the fans in the team's hometown take an interest in their team, and consider it as their own, a proprietary interest, which would be reflected in the efforts of the players to justify the feeling.

The playing of these big league Negro teams has duly impressed Mr. Griffith, and his interest was clearly shown as he sat and watched each play like the baseball hawk that he is, and has been for thirty-six years, during which he has had every experience baseball has to offer. He voluntarily gave the use of his upper tied of powerful flood lights, adding to the illumination provided for the remaining lights, which were temporarily installed by a local firm, for these night games. He further commented that it would be cheaper for Dykes and the Pilot backers to among the upper crust in Harlem, will open at the Craig theatre Aug. 22. Emanuel Middleton is named as the producer of the play.

ELLINGTON IN MILWAUKEE

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—(ANP)—Duke Ellington will go into the Wisconsin theater in Milwaukee September 2 for a week during which he will play both for the theater and a dance hall in the building after the final show each night. The salary for the week's engagement is $8,500.

GREEN PASTURES IN TEN CAR SPECIAL HEADS EAST

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 4.—(By Mercedes Gilbert for the ANP)—The Green Pastures company ended in San Diego, Cal. on Sunday, July 17. After a day and night journey through the great desert the company arrived in Salt Lake City, Utah July 21 for another three day engagement at the Victory theater. The company left Salt Lake City on their ten car special Sunday, July 24 and opened in Denver Monday, July 25 at the Broadway theater. The show is booked here for one week and is to close for the month of August, to open again September 5 in Boston for a long run.

Green Pastures played over 1,000 performances and covered many miles in their long tour, having appeared in twenty-four cities since leaving New York where 640 performances were given, at the Mansfield theater to hang up a record. The company left Denver July 31 for New York.

Wins 1 Round K.O.

Gibson scored an impressive one-round K. O. over Leo McConnell, 5 white Lansing (Mich.) junior lightweight, at Niles, Mich., Monday night. Gibson "got his man" in the first thirty seconds of milling with stiff rights and lefts to the head. Gibson hails from the Webb stable in Indianapolis.

FOX SCORES 3 KNOCKDOWNS IN MICHIGAN BOUT

Petit Ferera Proves Tough Foe for Hoosier Heavyweight Champ

NILES, Mich., Aug. 5.—(Special) Tiger Jack Fox, Indiana's champion heavyweight, slapped out a win over Petit Ferera in a Niles ring Monday night, according to a referee's decision. For nine rounds the bout looked like an irresistible force in the person of the Fox, meeting an immovable object portrayed by Ferera. Fox rushed the smaller Michigan boxer again and again but Ferera either avoided his sledgehammer blows or took them on his elbows or head. The tenth round, however, resulted in Ferera being floored three times, each time for long counts, as a result of a final outburst of activity on the part of Fox.

The Indiana batter who is touted to meet Maxie Rosenbloom in South Bend soon, outweighed the Michigan champ by 16 pounds but was unable to land any telling blows until the close of the contest. Leroy Gibson, Little Indianapolis lad who opened the fighting, stopped Leo McConnell, white, of Lansing, within the first 30 seconds of the bout. Stiff rights to the head sent the Lansing batter down for nine count at the beginning of the bout and then dumped him for a long count.

George Venev, the oldest of the Venev brothers, scored a technical knockout in the fourth round of his scheduled six round go with Louis Maglin of Lansing, when Maglin whom the bell had saved at the close of the round, was unable to get from his stool at the opening of the next period.

Jo-Jo Venev, the wee member of the Venev tribe counted a nice score when he whipped Jale Rickett, also of Lansing. Rickett had the advantage of a much longer reach and a taller stature but was unable to withstand the buzz saw tactics of the Indiana mauler.

install their own equipment, and then he would allow them the use of his own lights which would cost them only approximately $50.00 per night, as against the $3,000 which Dykes and the Pilots are paying for three nights to the present installer.

Commenting on the failure of the Negro National Baseball league a year ago, Mr. Griffith said that it was necessary that the Race have leagues in order to properly function, and produce the high grade of baseball which the people wanted to see. "Negroes," said he, "no longer are willing to pay to see just any kind of ball, and least of all, here in this section of the country, and where they can see Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, and other stars on regular big league teams instead. You must give them a comparative brand of ball." And it was his opinion that the brand of ball as played by the Pilots and the Crawfords was well worth the price of admission.

U. N. I. A. IS MRS. BALLOU GROUP'S MIGHTY ORGANIZATION

Negro's Greatest Weapon For Social, Political Recognition

By GABRIEL STANLEY
City Editor Indianapolis Recorder

Long recognized as the most substantially timely international organization of our group in existence, the United Negro Improvement Association, continues through its hundreds of far-flung and actively functioning branches to carry on its noble program of arousing to intelligent and co-operative action members of the race the world over for their own salvation, educationally, socially, economically, industrially and politically.

Succeeding Admirably
In spite of much opposition of the most iniquitous sort, belittling references, baseless criticism, non-appreciation and other distractions born of dense ignorance on the part of the rank and file of our people as to its real aims and purposes, it has been revealed in recent reports that the U. N. I. A. is at least succeeding admirably in its mission of teaching members of the group everywhere how to identify themselves more aggressively Co-operatively, earnestly, appreciatively and productively with the legitimate aspirations of our own group; develop needed desire for self-assertion; cease being slave minded and a veritable joke in the eyes of other peoples of the world.

Status Negligible
Our status as a people is pitifully negligible. We have to admit this unpleasant fact, nevertheless it is true. A major purpose of the U. N. I. A. is not to take you "Back to Africa" (though that wouldn't be a bad idea for many of us) but to pull the race out of the mire of traditional stagnation; make the group more self appreciative; free us from the yoke of self organized oppression; destroy the positive and damnable inferiority complex spirit with which our people in a large measure are literally saturated.

Program Loftly
In fact, in the writers' opinion, it is the only Negro organization with a program big enough, broad enough and rock ribbed with principles logical enough to blaze a path of real progress for the Negroes of the world.

Surely the admiration of an ambitious and liberty loving race should be aroused over so dignified a program for the good of a struggling people.

The program of the Universal Negro Improvement Association involves the following unquestionably very lofty and creditably progressive points:

The political and social freedom of the entire Negro race; The presentation of proper evidence before the League of Nations for an adjustment of the international race problem; The creating of a thorough educational system for the high education of the Negroes of America, West Indies and Africa, resulting in the founding of Negro Universities of a purely technical character; The creating of general economic opportunities in agriculture, industry and commerce for the Negro people of the world, whereby a brisk and proper trade relationship may develop between the Negroes of America, Africa, the West Indies, South and Central America to insure a stable economic status;

The acquiring and controlling of agricultural lands for the scientific development of agriculture and also to establish factories and industrial institutions in various Negro communities to guarantee permanent employment for the Negroes of the world;

The launching of a line of steamships to facilitate Negro trade and commerce throughout the world;

To establish in London, Washington, Paris, Berlin, Rome and principal capitals of the world embassies to represent the interest of the entire race and to watch and protect their rights;

The establishing of a daily paper in several large cities of the world to shape sentiment in favor of the entire Negro race;

The practical effort of uniting every unit of the Negro race throughout the world into one organized body;

The formulating of plans to unify the religious beliefs and practices of the entire race; To make practical and execute each and every one of the above objects as a solution of the Negro problem and as a means of saving the Negro from further exploitation and possible extermination in the world.

Surely an organization as capable as this one is to lift the status of the Negro every where to a higher plane of recognition in the world.

HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION PROGRAM

Out of the $120,000,000 federal appropriation to aid states in highway construction is bound to come increased employment. Such in sum, is the indicated finding of a nation wide survey report on the subject. The prediction is based on several logical reasons. One of these reasons is revealed in the circumstance that the construction program, recognizing the helpless plight of millions of citizens is designed to create work for the unemployed. Because it will help the jobless to be at least self-sustaining the program is being hailed as a vigorous move in the right direction. Provision for a thirty-hour week as embodied in the construction plans is drawing wide praise from the rank and file of the people. This particular phase of the program is being hailed by relief workers throughout the nation with much enthusiasm; the reason is that the arrangement will have the effect of providing jobs for more workers over a longer period.

It is pointed out that highway construction work in many states will be double or tripled by the federal appropriation which must be matched dollar for dollar by the commonwealths themselves. This should mean that as many or more than 40,000 men will be employed at road work alone in each state. In addition to the thousands of potential road workers, others will be employed in various other capacities. And the big irrefutable fact is contained in the circumstance that work for the unemployed would most assuredly be productive of better business conditions in thousands of communities throughout the United States. Therein lies the economic tonic so badly needed by our industrially sick nation. We believe the highway construction capable of giving the wheels of industry the push that will lead a return of normal.

Wisely utilized, the plan may yet be a source of salvation to America's millions of suffering, unemployed citizens. The program is at least a very excellent step in a substantially logical direction. What is needed now is a minimum amount of procrastination in getting down to business; the people want action; the employed must have jobs.

THE LAWYERS' CONVENTION

The eight annual convention of the National Bar Association opened in this city Thursday with an impressively large number of members of the profession in attendance. The occasion was the signal for a cordial reception to the visiting lawyers on the part of hospitable Miss Indianapolis. The Indianapolis Recorder joined in the popular wish for the sessions much success and constructive results. Noteworthy is the timeliness of the many fixed subjects selected for discussion in connection with the conference. That proves beyond a shadow of doubt that the attorneys are deeply sensitive of their peculiar responsibilities; it proves more than that; it signifies that they are courageous enough, patriotic enough, and progressive enough to concern themselves seriously with the unusually perplexing problems confronting members of our group every where. It is a bigness of heart and loyalty to a cause that is unquestionably intitled to and shall receive the full gratitude of our people. And so, we feel called upon to liken the lawyers eighth convention unto one weighted with vital importance to the group as a whole. That being the case, the meeting must of necessity be a decided success. It can not afford to be otherwise.

It is on record that the organization ranks high in the estimation of the nation's leading legal circles. Its membership is rated second to none in dignified competence, educational preparedness and known ability to function efficiently in all branches of law. And it is also true that the personnel of the National Bar Association is recognized for its superior type of legal minds; it is composed largely of men that have made enviable reputations in their chosen profession; men in whom the race has reason to be well pleased; a creditable body of Americans and a valuable asset to the group with which its members are identified. The city of Indianapolis feels itself honored to have the privilege of welcoming the lawyer delegates within its gates. Hospitable Hoosiers will vie with each other in the matter of making the distinguished visitors feel completely at home throughout their all too short a stay in our no mean city. Of that fact we are exceedingly proud; known the country over for their ability to entertain, Indianapolis citizens can be depended upon to impress the visitors so irresistibly as to cause them to come back again soon.

RELIEF

If Congressional action can give the needed relief sought everywhere from depressing economic conditions, it is on the way and coming at a rapid pace. Money and work, the two major items in men's wants are on the way. Money and work - they mean about the same thing—either one without the other would upset the calculations of economists. We shall not expect the wheels of industry to turn immediately nor the flow of cash to send salesmen in search of borrowers, but confidence in the immediate stability of finance and industry will gradually grow into a moving turn over of erstwhile frozen interests which will stop the complaint about hard times and cause the stress on everything to be lessened. A program of road building projected will call for labor and material. A program of financing weak institutions will remove the shadow of ruin which these institutions have faced.

Honest-to-goodness efforts at retrenchment in government, state, county and city, combined with national relief measures may bring us to our feet again with woefully shrunken purses but, otherwise, not much the worse for our former plight. There is hoping that this realization may be the effectual end of a struggle that has gotten the best of many and given all a chance to get a worthwhile lesson. Unlike other seasons of depression, there has been no automatic reversion in this one.

The gradual downward glide has been continuous to the verge of ruin and the inevitable crash in immediate prospect brings a disposition for team work unprecedented in American history. The universal value of team work on a large scale is not to be despised in an age in which democracy is on serious trial.

There is much more to be done, but the result of what is being tried will point the way.

When enough of the property of landowners shall have gone under the hammer and enough of the business enterprises shall have closed doors to convince the government that its supertaxed and land poor citizenry is a cold asset then we shall have relief from unreasonable taxes and exorbitant business license.

These levies that so much discourage small business and home owning are an important part of any relief plan that really relieves. (The Birmingham Reporter).

CLEVELAND VOTERS

The present mayor of the city of Cleveland is a Democrat. We understand his election was brought about through Negro votes. Press dispatches indicate the new Ohio city executive is cognizant of the extent to which colored citizens contributed to his success and plans to repay his colored supporters. That is a good sign. It shows that Cleveland's new mayor is possessed somewhat of that rare attribute called gratitude. Campaign promises made by him involving a complete reversal of the political situation in Cleveland helpful to Negroes are about to be fulfilled. It is expected that the party will take advantage of the opportunity afforded to build an effective Negro Democratic machine. The organization will be effected in wards where the voting strength of colored people is great.

Some such organization is the crying need in Indianapolis. Our people here are in need of non-co-operation, non-sympathy of purpose and divers other ills attributable to a irresponsible group. Recognizing the utter necessity for a strong Negro association of some sort in Indiana, attention was called to that fact editorially in this paper many times. To what extent the warning will bear fruit we are not yet in a position to say; we do know, however, that it is high time our people in Indiana should prepare a battle line of political defense of their constitutional rights. Their could be no better political front than one involving a good strong sensibly managed organization. The people of Cleveland are bent upon creating such a status for themselves. When the program is effected they will be in a position to more fully serve society and their community in a constructive way. Other peoples who are aspiring to a like place of prominence in governmental affairs can satisfy their ambitions only through such organizations as will be firm and strong enough to make their influence felt; not before.

We are much impressed with the Cleveland situation. Evidently members of the group in that city and state are much closer together on matters political than are colored citizens of Indianapolis and Indiana.

That solid all-Negro political organization in Cleveland, is a great credit to its members, and to the race men and women that helped to bring it into being. Hoosiers should profit immensely by the splendid example; they should put a stop to empty bickerings, meaningless jealousies, narrow prejudice and hew more to the line of progress; we must have an impregnable political organization in Indiana.

DOUBLE YOUR JOYS

Double your joys by remembering them. Bring back all the sweet and lovely things of yesterday. Let the mind rest upon them—live them over and over again. Draw a curtain over the unhappiness, disappointments and heartbreaks that tore the heart yesterday. Refuse to admit them. But recall your life's happiest moments from out of the fading past and delight again in the magic of their mellow memories.

CRUISING AROUND

By LEE JAY MARTIN

The drive to and from Terre Haute was a pleasure for Mr. W. H. Porter, Mr. Silas Redmon, Mr. C. W. Strider, the owning chauffeur, and myself. The careful driving of Mr. Strider made it unnecessary for Mr. Porter, sitting in the back seat, to put on the brakes at any time; nor did curves of which there were an over supply, bother us.

Terre Haute, on the banks of the famous Wabash river, one of the most progressive cities in the great commonwealth of Indiana, is kept so by the high spirit of the citizens of that city, even though wealth is not common as in the days gone by. During my sojourn there, a closed bank paid its depositors one third of their savings. Not much to one's savings, but as a young lady whose $2,000 savings had been tied up, said "It's just like finding money."

On arrival at that fair city we went to the Pythian Temple and were assigned to our stopping places, by the committee in charge. Not a single complaint has come to my attention. Only the most fastidious crank would or could voice any complaint about the clean modern homes and the superb hospitality of our host.

In the evening, a public reception was held in the A. M. E. church, where one of the best programs was rendered that I have ever listened to. It was well presented by the smiling and efficacious B. A. Porter. Introducing visiting officers, the master of ceremonies said, that every time he saw Mr. S. C. Pritchett, he thought of his wife. W. J. I. Reed, had told me that he also looked at or heard Mr. Pritchett, and thought of his wife. Knowing Mr. Pritchett believed in "getting you told", and knowing Mrs. Reed, did not all ways use "weasel words", I could see Mr. Reed's viewpoint. But, I was at a lost to fathom Mr. Porter's statement, until he explained that the goodnatured, and obligating Mr. Pritchett was what reminded him of his wife, the charming and pleasing to the "in" degree, hostess of the grand chancelor, Mr. Joseph Henderson.

While the Mayor, Hon. Wood Posey, was in Indianapolis, the prosecuting attorney Hon. Kincaid, welcomed us to the city and all its beautiful parks, pools and beaches etc. Mr. Clarence Milligan, one of the most congenial fellows to be found anywhere, made the address of welcoming on behalf of the lodges, in a speech I did not think he was capable of making. He praised the Wabash valley, until one felt like dwelling there forever; he glorified the waters of that song writer's river, until you longed to only sit and dream, by that rippling stream. He painted the picture of the city's hospitality so vivid, until I felt so perfectly at home, that a little later I walked into a lady's home, a total stranger to me, and without permission, took charge of her radio. Mr. Milligan was right. The hospitality was there 110 per cent. Here, I thank you Mrs. Grant, also beg forgiveness.

Mr. Porter, in response to Mr. Milligan, stated, that contrary to most welcome addresses, he believed that Mr. Milligan's came from the heart, and that he felt that he would not be disappointed in sampling the 1932 brand of Terre Haute—hospitality.

Then the efforescent beauty of the program appeared. Miss Emma Rochelle, perched high in the choir box with her flowing home-grown hair brought around in front, her angelic countenance, more dazzling than the sparkling spangles that sent their shining rays from the waving folds of a transparent dress of soft pink, was heavenly to gaze upon; but all this beauty was surpassed by an amazingly sweet and mellow voice, which sang songs that held the audience in a spell of pleasure and left them wanting more.

Mr. Gillespie sang in fine characterization "Travelin'", and "Walk with me Lord". With more experience, Mr. Gillespie should become a star of the class of Paul Robeson and Roland Hayes.

Mrs. Hallie Tidlington was escorted to the rostrum and introduced. The audience applauded as they saw her pleasing personality had not changed. Dr. H. W. Armstrong and T. J. Pryor came in late, and Dr. A. H. Wilson seemed to enjoy the program sleeping. Mrs.

Julia Reed made an excellent response to Mrs. Crawford, who let the delegates know that there was plenty of water to drink, in that city along the Wabash. Mr. John Gibbs announced next day's program, then the choir, a constellation of beauty, sang "Rain". Rev. Joseph Churchill dismissed us to ice cream and cake in the basement.

There, I met Arthur Yates and Hayes Hackner of Evansville; James Reed, Rev. Kelly, Wm. Harmon of Washington; Robert Richard of Jeffersonville; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Reeves of Shelbyville, who passed us on the way to the convention city; H. Hill, Jas Higgins, master of figures; and the one and only, H. C. Willis of South Bend. No, I have not forgotten you Mr. Coker, nor have I forgotten the engreuous pleasing one, whose enchantment was so captivating, until I was surprised at my own "egad", but more surprised to find such an "egle" around the lonely one. However, F. W. W. C.

Having appointed myself a member of the Fraternal greeting committee, after getting the grand chancellor's consent, I had the opportunity of meeting the ladies of the grand court in a body. Among those present were Mesdames or Misses: Dorothy Knight of South Bend, Belle Artis-Newsoms of Kokomo, Sadie Mosby of Evansville, Carrie White, Emma White, Lucy Carter, Ardella Edwards, Cordella Moore, Lucy Hayden, Bertha Reed, Minerva Worthington, Hattie Rawls, Effie Scott and Josephine Baker of Indianapolis. Many others who know nothing or caring about "Cruising round."

R. D. Gilliam, one of the best officers the grand lodge has had, made the most comprehensive report during the sessions, even though it was his last report. However, this does not take from the down-to-the-last-penny report of the explaining Hayes Hackner real estate agent of the body.

Amos Bibe, Ed Scott, Ardel Cross, Ben Yeager, Lee Lunderman, Clarence Brown, Fris Patton of Indianapolis, C. W. Winburn of Kokomo, Rev. Barney Stone, of Nablesville, Wm. Anderson or Coleman of Burnett, Gen. Buckner of Indianapolis and Statesmanlike Rev. C. L. Upthegrove, were the familiar figures here and there.

Rev. Brown, pastor and host of the sessions saw to it that the body had every comfort in his church.

The best stopping place was at Mrs. Martha Gibbs, because Mr. Pritchett, Mr. Reed, Mr. Redman, Mr. Strider, Mr. John Gibbs, and myself stopped there. At home? We say we were and how!

SPIRITS

Have you ever seriously reasoned within,
That you have two spirits that are no kin?
One will say "Yes," the other says "No,"
One will say "Stay," the other says "Go."
One will persuade you to do what is right,
The other will plead until you take flight;
From the things that are good, honest and true,
And keep you away until the day you rue.
One says "Most pleasures lead us to lust"
The other says "That is being unjust";
Listen to one it says, "Take heed,"
The other cries loudly, "There is no need!"
They are confusing, sometime we can't see
Which is the stronger, then it's better for thee;
To refuse to obey, till you're sure without doubt,
That goodness prevails, then badness fades out.

Bedtime Story

MR. AND. MRS. VINEGAR

Once upon a time Mr. and Mrs. Vinegar lived in a fine, large bottle. But one day Mrs. Vinegar swept her house so had with her little broom that the bottle broke to bits. "Oh, Mr. Vinegar, Mr. Vinegar!" cried Mrs. Vinegar, "our house is broken to bits. What shall we do?" "We will find a new house, my dear," said Mr. Vinegar. "So he put the door, which was not broken, on his back, and they started off to find a new house.

They traveled all day, but they found no new house, so at night the climb up in a tree to sleep until morning. They had just gone to sleep when something at the foot of the tree called out so loudly that they both awoke at once. "Robbers, my dear," cried Mr. Vinegar. "I will climb down the tree and frighten them away."

So Mr. Vinegar climbed down the tree and frightened away the robbers. As the robbers ran, they dropped a gold piece.

"I will buy a house with this gold piece," said Mr. Vinegar, picking it up, and surprise Mrs. Vinegar.

So Mr. Vinegar, who was a foolish little man, traveled all the rest of the night to find a house that he could buy for one gold piece, and there was none.

When it came morning he met a farmer driving a red cow. Mr. Vinegar forgot all about the house, and he bought the red cow from the farmer for the gold piece.

"She will give us milk for the rest of our days," thought Mr. Vinegar, as he drove the red cow merrily along.

But soon he heard some music in the road ahead of him. It was a man playing the bagpipes. Mr. Vinegar's feet began to dance, and he hurried up to the man.

"Will you sell your bagpipes for this red cow, sir?" asked Mr. Vinegar.

"That I will," said the man, and he took the red cow.

But after Mr. Vinegar had bought the bagpipes he could not play them. He sat down by the roadside, and he blew and blew, but he made no music. Then along came a man wearing some fine fur gloves. "Will you give me those gloves for my bagpipes, sir?" he asked the man.

"That I will," said the man, and he took the bagpipes, and Mr. Vinegar took the gloves.

But the gloves were too small for Mr. Vinegar. As he tried to put them on, he heard a parrot up in a tree calling to him:—

"Mr. Vinegar, Mr. Vinegar, gave his gold piece for a cow, gave his cow for a set of bagpipes, gave his bagpipes for a pair of little gloves. Ha, ha, ha."

That made Mr. Vinegar very cross. He threw his new gloves at the parrot, and they went so far up in the tree, that he could not get them. Then Mr. Vinegar had nothing at all.

So Mr. Vinegar went home to Mrs. Vinegar, and he told her that he had been very foolish. And he found Mrs. Vinegar in a new house, busily sweeping as if nothing had happened. So it was all right, after all.

A New Variety of Lily Whites

By KELLY MILLER

If the writer mistakes not, the term lily white had its origin under the administration of William McKinley. It meant then a Southern Republican who denied the Negro participation in the management of the party. The Reconstruction governments had come and gone. The North capitulated to the South in 1876. Rutherford B. Hayes was the great compromiser. He was permitted to assume the presidency on the distinct understanding that the political equality of the Negro was not to be insisted upon. Many of the most ardent and devoted white Republicans were left scattered through the South by the defunct Reconstruction regime. They were undeviating devotees of the constitutional rights of the black man, for which many of them had fought in the Civil War. Tom Reed, of Maine was candidate for the nomination against William McKinley in 1896. Reed stood by the Constitution and the Negro. McKinley looked askance. Reed lost, but McKinley won. Southern white Republicans became divided. Few of the more ardent ones adhered to the old foundations upon which the party was founded; others fattening on public pay, licked the lily white hand that fed them. In a little while the died-in-wood, old line Southern Republican became extinct. Only the lily white variety survived. The Republican party in Virginia, North Carolina, Florida and Texas exclude the Negro from their organizations without shame or remorse. In the mean time, such border states as Maryland, West Virginia, Missouri and Kentucky, where the black contingency was comparatively small, admitted him freely to full constitutional privilege. The thickly black states of Georgia, South Carolina, Louisiana and Mississippi constituted a different political problem. Here the Negroes were the residuary legates of the left over political organization of the Reconstruction regime. There were scarcely enough white Republicans left to fill the federal offices and to hold the commanding positions in the organizations. In these states the Republican party had no hope of functioning except so far as concerns the manipulation of delegates to the National Convention, on the basis of federal patronage. The good natured Warren G. Harding agreed to turn these states over to Negro manipulation and control insofar as Republican organizations were concerned.

Thus the matter stood until the coming of Herbert Hoover who strove to put all the Southern states under lily white control. In this he had all but completely succeeded. The exigencies of the coming election caused him to modify somewhat his lily white policy. He could not afford too ruthlessly to offend the Negro voters of the church at Shipley grove was a success. Among the ministers who spoke were: Rev. W. T. Doty, Columbus; Rev. Bollinger and Rev. Brown, Rushville; Rev. Horace Alexander and Rev. Huey, Connersville; Rev. Summer Breakfasts

By MOLLIE MARTIN

THE summer breakfast is a very important meal — particularly for children. Too much heavy food must not be eaten in hot weather, but on the other hand romping children need considerable nourishment to carry them through a strenuous vacation morning of play.

Light nourishing foods and drinks are in order. Fruit, breakfast food, toast, and a cereal beverage made with whole milk is a suggested menu. If the children will eat a small portion of bacon or eggs, let them have it for appetite is a good gauge of need.

With such foods, little bodies are well fortified. The children—even those who refuse to drink plain milk—secure milk from their cereal beverage. This beverage may be obtained at any store—in package form for boiling or percolating, or the instant variety that may be made quickly by using one teaspoon to a cup of hot milk. Try these recipes:

Bolled Method
Place 6 level tablespoons of the packaged cereal beverage product in a tall pot and add 4 cups cold water. Heat to boiling point and boil steadily for 20 minutes. Add dash of cold water and let stand a moment to settle. Serve with cream and sugar if desired. Serves 4. A large package will make approximately 58 cups.

Children's Breakfast Beverage
Make it extra strength, using 6 level tablespoons packaged product to 3 cups cold water. Boil or percolate steadily 20 minutes. If boiled, add dash of cold water and let stand a moment to settle. Have ready pot of hot milk. To serve, pour cereal beverage and milk together into cup in equal amounts. Sweeten if desired. Serves 4.

HALL OF FAME

by Eloise

Introducing to you this week, through the "Hall of Fame," Mrs. Elizabeth C. Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Caldwell, of this city. Mrs. Stewart was born in Louisville, Ky., and came to this city with her parents at a very early age.

She received her education in the public schools. She is an active member of Bethel A. M. E. church and has been for 29 years.

Mrs. Stewart is also a member of the choir, president of the Silver Leaf Art Club, charter member of the Northside Community club, Hattie Ross Bible Class, Independent Sisters of Charity, Women's Committee of Y. W. C. A., Past, Ill. Commandress of Deborah Court Daughters of Isis No. 24, Past Grand Deputty of State of Indiana.

She studied voice at the Cosmopolitan School of Music under Madam Lucetiga K. Love and Madam M. Loretta Stovall.

Mrs. Stewart has raised large sums of money through the many activities given for her church. Her last big effort was the promotion of the Mattie L. Stovall recital the attendance being one of the largest in years. She is a ceaseless worker, which work has grown to be a part of her. Not only does she work in her own church, but finds time to serve in other churches, regardless of denomination. She is the wife of Wm. Clarence Stewart and mother of the late Blanche Stewart Edwards.

TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP HAVE LARGE ENTRY

SCOTCH PLAINS, N. J., Aug. 6.

Indications are that the 16th annual championships of the American Tennis Association will have an unusually large entry, thus assuring the success of the year's biggest event for colored tennis players. While entries do not close until next week, the tournament committee of the A. T. A. is confident that this year's list will be fully as large as in previous years.

Holding of the tournament on the courts of the Shady Rest Golf Club at Scotch Plains marks the return of the Nationals to the east for the first time in three years. Last year's tournament was held at Tuskegee, Ala. and the year before at Indianapolis.

Present title holders are Reginald Weir, New York, men's singles; Ora Washington, Philadelphia, women's singles; Nathaniel and Frank Jackson, Lauringburgh, N. C., men's doubles; Ora Washington and Blanche Winston, doubles; Miss Annie Roberts, Portsmouth, Va.; and Ted Thompson, Washington mixed doubles; Frank Jackson, Lauringburgh, N. C., junior singles.

Dr. D. Ivson Hodge of New York City, president of the A. T. A. will preside at the annual meeting of the association immediately preceding the week's play. Edmund Burke of New York is chief referee, while L. B. Granger of Bordentown is chairman of local arrangements.

Over two thousand tennis fans from this area and from surrounding states are expected to attend the finals on Saturday. Many of these will be white sports lovers who have been following the progress of tennis among colored players with increasing interest during the past few years.

SCOUTS READY FOR ANNUAL CAMP OUTING

Fifty-three Boys to Start Early Monday for Chank-tun-Un-Gi

Fifty-three Boy Scouts and their leaders of the central district will rise early Monday, August 8 to start for Camp Chank-tun-un-gi. The Boy Scout Reservation where they will begin their sixth Annual Boy Scout Camp period.

This Camp is one of the best boy scout camps in the United States. Just a few weeks ago, a beautiful field house was added to the many other fine equipment; in fact, the beautiful field house is the only one of its kind anywhere.

There is much friendly rivalry this year being manifested because there are two or three scouts of troop No. 43, who are just on the edge of Eagle rank and they will no doubt make Jones and Anderson step on the gas to keep ahead of them from now on. There are many other scouts who are preparing to make wonderful progress while in Camp this year.

Scout leaders and the scouts desire to express their sincere appreciation of the fine work done by the Central District Camp Committee, under the excellent leadership of Mrs. O. A. Johnson, dean of girls at Crispus Attucks High School. This Committee, through the generous aid of the public made it possible for many boys to go to Camp who otherwise could not have gone. There were two outstanding events that this committee put over in a big way—on a card party, last Monday, July 25th on the roof garden of the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Helen Brooks was the Chairman; the second event was a benefit show at Hill's Indiana Theatre; Thursday, July 28th.

Drs. L. E. Young, Summer, Evans, Scofield Linthorne, C. A. Toles, Homer Waters and Dr. M. D. Batties.

Mr. G. L. Hayes is chairman of the camp transportation committee and he would be very pleased to have the folks with cars call him at 4114 and let him know that they will help take some boys to Camp Monday.

The scouts and their leaders cordially invite the public to camp any evening after 4 P. M. If you have never been to the camp, you will never be able to imagine what a fine place it is or realize what you have been missing.

How to get to Camp.

Route 1.—Out Massachusetts Ave. and Pendleton Pike to Lawrence, then two miles north. Follow signs.

Route 2.—Out Millersville Road from Fairgrounds to Millersville then (a) East on Brendenwood Road or (b) northeast on Millersville road to Baker's Bridge

NEGROES FLOCK TO THE POLLS IN TEXAS; VOTE

Citizens Decided to Cast Ballots Following Supreme Court Decision

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Negroes in many places in Texas decided to vote in the Democratic primary, July 23, as a result of the recent United States supreme court decision from a white primary according to a National Association dispatch.

In some places the citizens voted without opposition, while in other places they were barred from the polls. A Democratic convention had declared that they would not be permitted to vote.

File Injunction Suit

Following this, Negroes filed suits in Bexar County, where San Antonio is located, and in Harris County, where Houston is located, seeking in one place an injunction against being prevented from voting and in the other a mandamus to compel the election of officials to admit them to vote. The cases were heard before Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly, who declared that the court had no jurisdiction to entertain complainant's bill because of the nature of the prayer for relief, but that "The contention of the complainant is upheld, and the controlling questions presented are disposed of, by the Supreme Court of the United States in the majority opinion of Mr. Justice Cardozo in Nixon v. Condon et al. (delivered May 2, 1932. . .)"

Cemetery 'Ghost' Is Prison Trusty

JOLIET, Ill., Aug. 2.—(Special)—Joliet's hymn singing "ghost" was laid early today and some 4,000 people trooped home to bed after keeping a vigil in the old penitentiary burying ground.

The "ghost" was identified as William Chrysler, a prison trusty, assigned to duty as night watchman in a quarry behind the cemetery. Chrysler was apprehended as he went to look after some quarry pumps. He seemed as surprised as everyone else.

"Hah," he said, "I ain't no ghost. I been working here about three weeks, ever since the other night watchman escaped."

"Well, what about these hymn people have been hearing in the cemetery late at night?" he was asked.

"Well, I have to come down behind this old cemetery every morning to look at these pumps and it's kind of spooky around here. I usually sing something like 'Rock of Ages' or 'Onward Christian Soldiers' to sort of cheer myself up."

"Well, in the future," said Warden Frank D. Whipp, "you do your hymn singing in the daytime."

COLE'S PRESCRIPTION LABORATORY IN NEW AND LARGER QUARTERS

By STAFF CORRESPONDENT

In direct contrast to the policy of several old and established business concerns, these days, to remove to smaller quarters, Cole's Prescription Laboratory is now conveniently located in new and larger quarters at 551 Indiana avenue, two doors north of old location. The firm now occupies a corner location at intersection of Indiana avenue, North and West streets.

Asked to what he attributed his phenomenal success in the drug business, Edwin Cole, one of the proprietors, stated "This business was founded six years ago by my father and myself."

"In the beginning my father made himself a part of the community from which he expected to derive his support. Their troubles were his. Today that same policy is carried out to the letter. In the past we have contributed generously to worthwhile community activities even to the extent of filling prescriptions for unfortunate and destitute families in need of medicine without compensation.

In the outset it was also decided that the business be confined exclusively to filling prescriptions. My father was bitterly opposed to the practice of a pharmacist serving soda, selling tobacco, etc., while compounding a prescription. He reasoned that something would be neglected and realizing that life and death often hung in the balance, he wished to give faultless service in his chosen profession. This policy also prevails today. Our stock of wholesome drugs is second to none in the city.

"In the very near future we propose to render twenty-four hour service to the community as another step forward for Cole's prescription service."

"The Cole community spirit is also evidenced by the regular employment of James E. McGhee, and a regular annual contribution to The Indianapolis Recorder Good Fellows Christmas Cheer fund."

assistant manager and attorney for the Walker Manufacturing company. He has served as judge pro-tem of the Marion Circuit court and Special Judge of the Municipal court of Marion county. For twelve years he acted in the capacity as deputy prosecuting attorney of Marion county. Attorney Brokenburr, who is a Mason and a churchman, is a nominee on the Republican ticket for the State legislature.

Attorney Cornelius R. Richardson, Richmond, Indiana, is a graduate of Howard university and a member of the Wayne County bar for twenty years. Early in the practice Attorney Richardson became the associate of Henry H. Johnson, ex-congressman, and one of the most celebrated lawyers in Indiana.

The Richmond lawyer possesses a wide political experience and acquaintance. He has headed the State Republican Colored bureau of the State Central committee and the Western Division headquarters of the National committee in Chicago. Attorney Richardson was vice-chairman of the Virgin Island commission under the Collidge administration. Attorney Richardson, who is a member of the State Bar association, is grand secretary of the Masons, Indiana Grand lodge and a member of the Elks grand exalted rulers' council.

Attorney George W. Lawrence, Chicago, prominent Democratic politician and secretary of the National Bar association.

A. U. K. ALL SET FOR ANNUAL SESSIONS

The Indianapolis contingent of the uniform department of the Ancient United Knights and Daughters of Africa will leave late Saturday night for Louisville, Ky., where the twenty-fifth annual grand session of the national grand council will be held beginning Monday.

The first district encampment of the uniform department of the organization will be held at the Louisville fair grounds with the usual display involving, other military features and daily band concerts.

Ohio Queen In Charge

Daughter Leona Taylor, state grand queen of Ohio will be in charge of the Louisville encampment, it was announced.

Headed by the 1st regiment band under Acting Captain J. B. Allen, the Indianapolis A. U. K. uniform rank, composed of three units, Company A, B. and C. and a nurse corps will leave for the Louisville sessions and six-day encampment from the Masonic Hall in the 300 block on Indiana avenue under command of State Colonel William Hall.

Other Regiments Going
Regiments from Illinois, Ohio and Kentucky will also participate at the encampment it was announced. Mrs. Ellena B. Kelly is state queen of the Indiana branch of the organization.

The A. U. K. grand session will be held in the Zion Baptist church in Louisville.

Claude Hopkins Back At Trianon Sunday, Aug. 7

Announcement by Sea Ferguson, popular local dance promoter, that the stellar attraction of Claude Hopkins and his Roseland orchestra was booked for a return engagement at the Trianon, Sun. August 7, is of especial interest to local dance lovers. Hopkins band is a Columbia broadcasting presentation and added hundreds more to its already millions of followers, in the July 20, booking at the Trianon.

Personnel of the coming attraction is composed of internationally known musicians—the talk of two continents.

Two Years At Roseland
Two years at Roseland ball room New York City; lengthy engagements in London, Paris, Vienna and South America, a WABC, broadcast feature, making of Columbia records, a feature of the celebrated Waldorf Astoria hotel are but a few of the outstanding achievements which have placed the Roseland aggregation on a par with any dance orchestra.

By Popular Request
"Only by popular request," stated Ferguson, "did I book Hopkins orchestra for a return engagement. Scores of Trianon patrons asked that the Roseland 'Jazzers' be returned. Here they are."

Advance tickets are on sale at the White Cab, Recorder and Metropolitan Real Estate offices.

Fairway Chatter

By L. A. JOHNSON
Mrs. Lucy Williams, city champion, has begun intensive practice to attain national golf honors.

The national golf tournament will be held on the Douglas court, September 1. A large entry list and attending delegations will be in the city.

We have a number of players who are shooting fine, holding their scores well down in the 80's.

Keen eyed caddies are becoming more proficient and seldom lose sight of the "piell" as it sails through the air to nestle somewhere on the terra firma.

Dr. H. L. Wales brought in an 87 the other day for eighteen holes.

Starks, an old timer, expects to shoot around 85 to keep in the running.

From what I can hear and read, many of our golfers are shooting 80 and under. Dr. O. O. Sweet in Detroit, shot 82 in a flight in the public links tourney.

Well, more chatter after the tennis tournament.

A Correction
Investigation conducted into recent allegations to the effect that John Taylor and a Ford car owned by him answered descriptions of a hold-up man for whom police are looking, disclosed that Taylor is not the man wanted by police.

Taylor, who is well-known in the downtown section of the city, resides on the west side.
